FRENCH OCEAN FLIERS NEARING GOAL

PLANE FAR OUT ON TRIP

NEW YORK, June 14 (U.P.)—The ochre-winged French monoplane Yellow Bird was far out over the Atlantic ocean this morning—if all went well aboard the craft—and probably more than 1500 miles along on its projected 30 hour flight from Maine to Paris.

The giant yellow craft which thundered eastward from the long beach at Old Orchard, Me., at 9:10 a. m. E. S. T. Thursday, was due to pass the half way mark on its route to the French capital about midnight.

The Yellow Bird, if it followed the schedule calling for a high speed flight, should have left the shadow of the Newfoundland banks—probably passing many miles sout of the coast to avoid heavy fog—before 9 p. m. From that point a water flight of more than 2000 miles lay between the plane and the European coast.

The fliers hope to reach Paris by late this afternoon, E. S. T., possibly as early as four or five p. m.

SHIP REPORTS SIGHTING PLANE

BAR HARBOR, Me., June 13—(U.P.)—The Coast Guard cutter Tampa reported to the naval radio station here tonight that the S. S. Wytheville had reported sighting an airplane, believed to be the French monoplane Yellow Bird, about 850 miles east and south of Old Orchard. The Tampa said the Wytheville's report received at 5:40 p. m., gave the ship's position as 41.09 north latitude and 49:40 west longitude. The plane was reported flying due east.

NEW YORK, June 13.—UP—The giant French monoplane Yellow Bird, faced unfavorable weather conditions tonight as it raced eastward over the north Atlantic ocean on a projected 30

YOUNG SIGNS BUILDERS BILL

Richmond contractors yesterday received word from Sacramento that Gov. C. C. Young signed the contractor license and registration bill.

The license law was sponsored by the State Builders Exchange of which P. M. Sanford, local contractor is president.

Under the terms of the new law, contractors must pay a $5 license fee, but sole owners of properties building for their own use are exempt from this law.

Sanford recently told the city council that with the passing of the state law there would be no necessity of the city licensing contractors as has been proposed.

Santa Cruz Mayor Must Face Court In Damage Suit

SAN FRANCISCO, June 13.—UP—Fred W. Swanton, mayor of Santa Cruz, must appear in the superior court here to answer to a $15,000 damage suit filed by Mrs. Ivanora McIntyre, of Berkeley. Also involved in the suit will be the Swanton Improvement company and Lewis M. Martin, a salesman.

Mrs. McIntyre has charged that she was defrauded with a purchase of beach property at Santa Cruz, declaring that at the time of purchase Swanton had guaranteed to make certain improvements in the property.

The purchase was made in 1925 for $30,700 in cash.

Judge Fitzpatrick today decreed that there was cause for suit and will set the day for trial.

Green Flash, Out; Yellow Bird Soars On

GREEN FLASH (top), which came to grief yesterday morning on its attempted takeoff to Rome from Old Orchard, Me. Below is the Yellow Bird, French plane which is well on its way over the Atlantic on its trip to Paris.

F. TITTEMORE SELLS SPRAY CO. INTEREST

Frank A. Tittemore, 468 Carlston street, inventor, founder of the Decora Manufacturing company, afterwards taken over by the Hopkins Spray Manufacturing company, and since that time the general manager of the corporation, has disposed of his interests in the company to J. C. Hall, who is connected with the company, and will resign his position, effective June 15.

Just what Tittemore will do in the near future, he has not yet definitely determined, except that his energies will be devoted to the spray machine industry. He will also act as a consulting engineer to the Hopkins company.

Spray Popular

The plant of the Hopkins company which is the child of the efforts of Tittemore, is located at Second and Nevin in Richmond. The use of the spray machine for painting and lacquer work has spread to the entire world and at the present time the company is making shipments to 18 foreign countries.

Tittemore has been a resident

L. A. Oil Blaze Still Raging

LOS ANGELES, June 13.—UP—Owners in the Santa Fe springs oil field today appropriated $200-000 to be used in quenching the flames which have been spouting from two wells since Monday.

However, it was decided to wait until Friday to decide whether to begin tunnelling operations If the wells give no indications of burning themselves out it is likely that another attempt to cap them will be made. The blaze which started in Rhode No. 1 well has done damage estimated at $4,000,000.

Merchants of City Asked To Display Flags

With the observance of flag day today, Richmond citizens have been requested to display flags.

Richmond merchants have been asked by veteran and other patriotic organizations here to display their flags from sunup to sunset today.

Americans owe their allegiance to their country and to the principles for which our government stands—and Old Glory is the symbol of both the government and ideals for which thousands have given their lives.

LEGION PLANS MOBILIZATION

Plans for the mobilization call to be issued by the governor next week were made by the membrs of Richmond post American Legion at a meeting held last night in Memorial hall with J. J. Barry, commander presiding. All Legion posts throughout the State will take part in the mobilization.

The Richmond post will take part in the Fourth of July parade to be held under the direction of the Point Richmond lodge Knights of Pythias.

Plans were also made to assist the Louis Haken post of El Cerrito in the Fourth of July celebration.

Members of the local post will attend the two celebrations to be held in Santa Cruz, June 22 and 23. Refreshments were served followingf the meeting by a committe headed by Robert Fulton and assisted by Ed Kearney, C. H. Dexter and Earl Krenzer.

SHORTAGE OF WATER FOUGHT BY DISTRICT

Asking a dissolution of a restraining order granted by Superior Judge H. V. Alvarado in an injunction suit filed by Frank Teiche, San Pablo creek landowner, seeking estoppal of plans to turn Mokelumne river water into the San Pablo dam, the East Bay Municipal Utility District yesterday filed suit to condemn seven tenths of an acre lying in the bed of San Pablo creek and owned by Teiche.

In asking the dissolution of the restraining order, the attorneys for the district filing the suit asserted that the district has but a 20 day supply of water in storage and is "facing the most critical shortage of water in its history."

Water Soon

Water from the Mokelumne river will be in the mains of Richmond and other cities in the district probably within the next week, according to district officials. F. H. Hanna, chief engineer, has left for Pardee dam to supervise the final work of connecting

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Pacella of Crockett are the parents of a daughter born at the Richmond Maternity Hospital yesterday.

RUSS TROOPS MARCHING ON CHINA REPORT

LONDON, June 13—UP—Daily telegraph dispatches from Peping tonight quoted Gen. Chang Hsueh Liang, war lord of Manchuria, as informing the National government of China that advance guards of Russian troops had invaded Mongolia.

The dispatches said the advance guards already have passed Manchoulin near Holsar, and that armed forces have surrounded all Chinese consulates in Russia.

Harbin, the Manchurian city where the Soviet consulate was raided recently, was reported "seething with excitement."

The alleged troop movements, it was assumed, are in connection with strained relations between China and the Soviet due to raids on Russian consulates in both Manchuria and China proper.

Chinese troops already are mobilizing, the Daily Telegraph's correspondent asserted. "Young Chang"—youthful ruler of Manchuria since his father's assassination last summer has ordered 60 airplanes from Germany but it is uncertain whether he would be able to put them into fighting order at present.

The Chinese authorities at Nanking have summoned an immediate conference to decide what diplomatic action shall be taken in view of the alleged Russian advance. It is considered almost certain that Japan will interfere if Russia attempts to invade Manchuria. Young Chang has stated that he can protect the border with his troops.

Electrical Workers Initiate Class

Initiation of a class of candidates was held last night in Brotherhood hall by the Electrical Workers local. Joseph Gerlach, president, presided. The local is planning to attend in a body the picnic of the County Labor council on July 21 at Neptune Beach.

Boy Arrested On Burglary Charge

Charged with entering the H. K. Martin home at 558 Key boulevard, a Richmond boy has been turned over to the juvenile authorities. The boy, whose name has been withheld by the police, is alleged to have stolen several dollars from the home.

A BRIGHT ILL

A Bright, 435 Ripley avenue, is in the Cottage hospital recovering from an operation performed Wednesday morning by Dr. Hall Vestal.

NEVADA VISITORS

Dr. Beatrice Oakley and Mrs. William Simmons of Winnemucca, Nev., were recent house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Patrick on Forty-third street.

BIG TALLMAN SEARCHES IN S. F., L. A.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 13 (U.P.)—Twice within 12 hours downtown buildings had been swarmed by police officers and newspapermen who thought they had trapped William Loren Tallman, 23, fugitive suspect in the murder case of Mrs. Virginia Patty, but they returned wearily to their regular stations tonight.

The report that Tallman was in a local theater and another that a man resembling him had attempted suicide collapsed after every modern method of crime detection had been utilized.

Disappointed but far from discouraged the detectives, exhorted to greater action by their chief, Captain Duncan Matheson, who rushed back here from a convention in the east, continued to move in circles, groping blindly for even the smallest bit of evidence that would point out the trail of their quarry.

Suicide Found

Without doubt the most confusing development of the search for Tallman was the discovery of a man lookin glike Tallman in a gas filled room here today.

So close was the resemblance between the unconscious man and Tallman's photographs that it was necessary to take copies of fingerprints at the emergency hospital to disprove the belief tha Tallman had been located.

Earlier a report from a crediable source had Tallman enjoying a stage play. Every available squad of law enforcement agencies was rushed to the theater and each person in the audience was observed carefully. The sidewalk in front of the theater was jammed during the futile search.

Look Alike

The man overcome by gas proved to be Joseph Longerin, who rented a room about six huors after the S. S. Admiral Benson docked here from Los Angeles more than a week ago and Tall-

5 S. P. SPAN PIERS MADE

MARTINEZ, June 13. Five of the smaller piers for the Southern Pacific bridge from Martinez to Benicia have been completed by Siems, Helmers and Schaffner Inc., foundation contractors. The firm is now engaged in the building of three of the larger foundation piers in deep water. The completed piers extend northward from th Contra Costa shore.

Herbert Benjamin, chief construction engineer declared today that all phases of the bridge work is proceeding satisfactorily and on schedule.

The subway being constructed near the L. C. L. station will be the first unit of the bridge to be completed, according to Benjamin Pouring of concrete is virtually completed by the Duncanson, Harrelson company, contractors. Installation of fabricated steel will be started shortly and the subway will probably be completed by July 1.

Double track construction between Martinez and Port Costa will not be completed before two months, Benjamin stated.

FACES PEACE CHARGE

Charged with disturbing the peace, Joseph Astrada, 471 Seventh street, was arraigned before Police Judge C. A. Odell yesterday. Astrada is free on $10 bail awaiting hearing. He was arrested on the complaint of W. F. Doble.

COALITION IN HOUSE KILLS DEBENTURE BY 137 MAJORITY

WASHINGTON, June 13—UP—The [illegible] Republican machine in the House, aided by 34 Democrats, effectively checked the debenture movement today and started the administration's $500,000,000 farm relief measure towards the White House. It may be on the president's desk for his signature by the end of the week. He will sign it.

Voting finally as the Senate has demanded for weeks, the House went on record overwhelmingly against the debenture, 250 to 113. That ended the controversy which at times threatened to delay farm legislation indefinitely.

The House adopted, specifically, a resolution of Republican Floor Leader Tilson instructing House conferees to stand against the debenture. After a vote, the conferees again received the bill They will report back an agreement eliminating the debenture. The House will accept it and the Senate will recede from its previous insistence upon the debenture. Final action should be taken by the end of the week and the measure sent to the White House

Coincide Anniversary

The House took this action, assuring final victory for the administration, on the anniversary of the second day of the Kansas City Republican convention last year, when farm representatives and a few actual farmers were appearing before the platform committee demanding a strong farm relief plank.

Thirteen Republicans from farm states voted with 100 Democrats in favor of the debenture which a coalition of Democrats and eastern Republicans had twice put over in the Senate.

The lack of support surprised many senators who thought the vote would be closer, instead of over two to one against the debenture.

Ring Found In Ruins Of Burned Home

BAY POINT, June 12—An engagement ring and a dollar bill were saved from the ruins of a burned home here today by Mrs. Edith Powell.

Mrs. Powell, who was a recent bride, was scratching the burned ruins of her parents' home when she found the engagement ring undamaged.

The residence was razed by fire and a chest containing the bride's wedding trousseau was destroyed. The ring and bill were intact in a small box in the ashes of the home.

William Smith Heads Carpenters

William Smith was chosen president of the Carpenters local No. 642 at elections held last night in Brotherhood hall. Other officers elected are Fred Lease, vice president; Fred Eggerth,, recording secretary; William Campbell, treasurer; L. Eckman and Oscar Anderson, trustees and Alec Donaldson, conductor and delegate to the Building Trades council.

BURNETT RETURNS

Lieut. Ora Burnett of the El Cerrito fire department has returned from Redding where he enjoyed an outing. Mrs. Burnett and the family will remain there for several weeks.

MISS KRUSE TO IOWA

Miss Irma Kruse, member of the Longfellow teaching staff, departed recently for Iowa where she will visit with her parents and friends.

400 MILLION INVOLVED IN COMBINE

SAN FRANCISCO, June 13.—Board of directors today approved the merger of the Crocker First National Bank with the American Trust company, combining resources of $400,000,000. Three Richmond banks are involved in the deal.

Included in the merger will be the Crocker First Federal Trust company, it was announced. Although details remain to be worked out, for submission to stock holders for their final approval, the preliminary plans were declared so satisfactory to both sides that the program is expected to be adopted without difficulty.

Preliminary negotiations between the board of directors of the two institutions were conducted in such secrecy that the announcement of the merger came as a distinct surprise to the financial centers here.

Merger Plans

The formal announcement following the meeting of the board of directors was signed by William H. Crocker, president of the Crocker First National Bank and Crocker Federal Trust company and John D. McKee, chairman of the board of the American Trust company.

The merger ranks among the

SWEDISH ACES TO HOP TODAY

REYKAJAVIK, Iceland, June 13—(U.P.)—The Swedish aviators in the airplane Sverige hope to leave here Friday for Ivigtut, in Greenland, on their projected flight to New York. Capt. Albin Ahrenberg, chief pilot, announced tonight.

The pilot made another test flight here this afternoon after complete repairs on the big Junkers plane which was forced back three times because of motor trouble.

They arrived here from Stockholm, via Bergen, Norway, Monday, after having been forced down on the Southern Coast of Iceland. They plan to fly from Ivigtut to the mouth of the St. Lawrence river and then to New York.

Ransom Girl On Way Home

Nellie Gatter, Antioch high school girl, who ran away from home several weeks ago, is enroute home with her mother from Missouri, according to word received here.

Several weeks ago the girl was taken into custody near Linn Creek, Mo. For some unknown reason she attempted to commit suicide.

Missouri authorities, in informing Sheriff R. R. Veale that the girl had been arrested, demanded $30 as a reward and expenses for taking the girl.

Whether the girl's mother has paid the money is not known at this time.

HUSBAND FINED $10

Arrested on the complaint of his wife, Mrs. Mildred Turner, Floyd Turner of 2320 Clinton avenue was fined $10 when he appeared before Police Judge C. A. Odell yesterday on a charge of disturbing the peace. A 90 day jail sentence was withheld.

THE WOMAN OF IT

BY MARGUERITE MOOERS MARSHALL

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1929

Woman's Place Is—EVERY Place!

MARGUERITE MOOERS MARSHALL

ANOTHER isle of male refuge has been invaded by the feminine Crusoes—
Even man's smoke-shop is no longer sacred!
He can't step in to buy cut plug, or cigars, or fags, or a new pipe,
Without finding himself surrounded by icecream sodas, whisk brooms, alarm clocks, even face powder—
And by fair—or partly fair, in the weather bureau's phrase—ladies, who are purchasing the same!
The only change he can expect is something even more so—
To-morrow's he-man probably will have to buy his tobacco
At a counter where baby pillows, summer furs and sunback bathing suits are also dispensed—
Swiftly and surely the American cigar store is going feminine!
We have for it the word of A. C. Allen, Vice President of the United Cigar Stores,
Who admits that his company's display windows are being turned into traps
To catch the feminine shopper;
That extra telephone booths are being installed
To take care of the feminine telephoner;
That soda fountains and sandwiches are being furnished
To tempt feminine appetites;
And that all sorts of general merchandise "lines" are being laid down
To lure the lady with money in her purse.
Lo, the poor cigar-store Indian—
Even his wooden face would (oh, pardon us!) have registered amazement,
Had he survived to see the day!
We can remember—and, really, we're not yet in the sere and yellow leaf—
When the girl who was so unladylike as to smoke cigarets
Almost never ventured into a cigar-store to buy 'em—
She went to a department store or drug store,
Into which her entrance would never compromise her,
And where, once in, she could pretend she was buying a birthday present for HIM!
In the next stage of her development, she sort of sidled and edged her way to the smokes counter—
Looking over her shoulder and out of the corner of her eye, to make sure
That no friend of Mother's was looking!
For some time, however, she has been perfectly frank, or brazen—(the adjective is according to the age of the person using it)—
Not only about smoking cigarets, but about buying them—
And her patronage of tobacco shops has the natural effect on their astute managers.
"Here," said these gentlemen, "is a Potential Market—
"Here, delivered into our hands, is the Shopping Sex—
"Let us make it happy, and make more money for ourselves."
Or, in Mr. Allen's own words:
"I think it is certainly due to the women
"That we are selling so many different things to-day."
Oh, well, why not?
Women long since invaded the business office, the voting booth, the stock market, the barber shop, the saloon-turned-night-club—
Why should any man expect to keep them out of the corner cigar store?
And, as usual, its invasion by women exerts a refining influence!
Through the onetime murky atmosphere, whisk brooms and alarm clocks suggest
The neatness and punctuality of home!
Men may as well make up their minds to the fact
That, though woman's place was in the home, once,
This legend of long, long ago has been changed to read:
"Woman's place is EVERY place—
"Try and keep her out!"

THE FLAPPER OF IT

I COME to praise courtesy, not to bury her. They say chivalry is dead and courtesy dying. They are not. They are only — well — different.

She was pert; nay, more—she was blatant. She stumbled into the station waiting room with the shrill squeal of the adolescent female. Makeup accentuated her black eyes. A satin dress—form-fitting, a cheap coat, highest of heels, sheerest of hose, briefest of skirts. She was "IT." Every glance simply yelled for attention.

For five minutes the voices of her "crowd" shrilled and the high heels clicked about the station. Her heels led all the rest. Her bold glance flickered invitingly to the very good-looking man near the door.

But he went out—letting the door come back with a rush in the face of an old lady burdened with suitcase, bag, umbrella and parcel.

Silence, for one breath of time, in the "crowd." Then the high heels clicked once more, as their "blatant," black-eyed wearer opened the heavy door and held it, with a smiling invitation for the elder woman to pass.

In the glory of my swanky new suit and so very carefully put on make-up, I discovered the terrible beam was in my own eye. Judge not—I felt like tuppence.

ADELAIDE YOUNG.

The Camera's Cruelty to Children

It has just been held that one-year-old Theodore W. Purtee of Cincinnati is not disgraced by the publication of his photograph for advertising purposes. The only photograph, some of us wincingly insist, which disgraces a baby is the one taken of him, without his advice and consent, sitting in a washbowl and in his birthday suit.

MY GAL'S PAL

It's Lillian this, and Lillian that,
And Lillian all the time;
Oh, Lillian stayed out late last night,
And Lillian spent a dime.

Sometimes I want a kiss, but no,
I have to wait and hear
That Lillian's brother's making good,
And Lillian's such a dear.

Oh, Lillian's this, and Lillian's that,
And Lillian's SUCH a joy!
But gosh, and gee, and heck, I'm glad
That Lillian ain't a boy!

MARTIN PANZER.

'TWAS EVER THUS

The sale of "Lindy" trophies, most of the customers being women, had been continued to the time of his wedding, but the demand has dwindled almost to nothing since.—News note.

Who says the modern girl is too hard-boiled to dream of Prince Charming?

Married men lead all the rest on the rolls of charity, making up 66.8 per cent. of dependent aged males, according to the Welfare Council of New York. And can't you just hear all the husbands reading aloud this item to all the wives who "never let a man save anything"?

The World's Window

By Pierre Van Paassen

PARIS, June.

Bulow's Fault

Dr. Stresemann has a curious phrase in an article in a Berlin newspaper. He is writing of the diplomatic qualities of Prince Bulow and says that he possessed certain qualities which made him numerous friends abroad and which turned half of Germany against him. And what are those qualities? Dr. Stresemann enumerates them: A vivacity of spirit, a fine eloquence and amiability. This is certainly not a very flattering remark for the Germans. If a foreigner, says a Frenchman, had written those words, he would probably draw fire from a hundred different corners on his head. But it's Dr. Stresemann who says so. "In our country," continues the Foreign Minister, "amiability and a lively spirit are considered almost incompatible with solidity and gravity." For that same reason the French have always been considered more or less of a foolish people, undependable, fickle and shifty. Wilhelm II. called the French a "verrucktes Volk," a crazy people, at the time of the Dreyfus affair. "Esprit" is something that Prince Bulow possessed. He was admired and liked for it in Italy and France, but the Germans wanted none of it. The Germans, said a Frenchman once, don't understand what is meant by "esprit." "How can you expect it," he added, "in a people that calls sausages a delicatesse?"

Poldavia

Paris hasn't had such a good laugh since Leon Daudet made his getaway from prison two years ago, aided and abetted by the King's henchmen. This time the "Camelots du Roi" invented the Poldavians, an imaginary people, who were said to be suffering under the yoke of foreign oppressors. They had stationery printed with letterheads of Poldavia's "Foreign Minister" and sent them to various Socialist and radical Deputies with an outline of Poldavia's woes and an appeal to aid. One of them, a well-known hothead among the Socialists, replied that "his heart bled when he learned of the misery of Poldavia and its citizens, who, instead of being free men, were slaves of an odious foreign power." Other Deputies answered that they would urge France's representation at the League of Nations to intervene on Poldavia's behalf. The hope of the Royalists was to get a reply from M. Aristide Briand, but M. Briand did not bite. Other Deputies replied to the moving appeal from Poldavia's exiled Ministers that they would immediately convoke mass meetings all over Paris and, if needs be, would demand that the French Army be sent out to free the oppressed minority. "You have done right in appealing to France," wrote one of them. "France will not desert you in the hour of your need." Of course the Camelots did not include Royalist Deputies in their hoax. For there isn't the slightest guarantee that these wouldn't have fallen just as hard as their radical colleagues.

The Taking Of Orleans

Tens of thousands of people went to Orleans the first week of May to see the historical pageants and the re-enactment of the storming of that city 500 years ago by the motley army under command of Joan of Arc. Twenty thousand French soldiers, dressed in the costumes of the time, impersonated the archers and yeomen of England and France. The "Dauphin" looked on while Joan scaled the ladders and planted the royal standard of France on the ramparts. Not far from the "Dauphin" sat M. Doumergue, President of the republic. And when the royalists in the crowd of spectators raised a rousing cheer at the sight of the victorious "fleur de lys," M. Doumergue just smiled good naturedly. And when the band of the Garde Republicaine at the same moment struck up the "Marseillaise" of the Revolution, the cheering went over to the other side. Joan stood to attention the while on the bulwarks, fleur de lys in hand. And the English "Goddems" too, halberdiers and archers, Dukes and nobles. Then the combat went on for the next stronghold. Arrows whizzed through the air and the clatter of swords and spears was heard. It was a hot skirmish, still nobody was hurt. Everybody enjoyed this war, which is as it should be. No bombs or machine guns or whizz-bangs or poison gas or liquid fire, a good old-fashioned kind of war, full of chivalry, gorgeous costumes and a big spree for all the participants in the end.

The June Birthday

THE June floral decorations, of course, will be roses. The birthstone for the month is the pearl. These two colors could be beautifully blended in the decorative scheme.

A shade for the chandeliers made of the usual paper fringe in rose, suspended from a hoop, would be very effective. A second scant row of fringe in pearl color, in varying lengths to form a pointed valance with a small pink rose or bud attached to the bottom ends of each, will greatly enhance the beauty of the shade.

A table cover of rose damask paper with an overthrow of pearl colored tarlatan would be pretty. Roses cut from decorative crepe paper can be appliqued as a trailing border on the tarlatan cover. Use the pink napkins. On the centre of the table have a full frill of the pearl tarlatan and fill this in with pink roses. In the middle of the frill place a stemmed plate bearing the birthday cake. On the centre of the cake place three roses, and inside of each set a high candle.

The rest of the candles should be arranged in candlesticks on the table. Make low candle-holders or cover holders with paper, then sprinkle them thickly and evenly with silver flitter. Place an artificial rose at top of each holder, leaving a centre opening for the high candles. This candle decoration can be made very effective. Sprays of smilax creeping from under the centre frill and winding about all the candles, on the table cover, will make an attractive table decoration. A buffet luncheon should be served.

The gift for the June birthday might be some article useful for the vacation days. Among the painted reed and straw baskets, bags, trays, &c., that are so useful, there are many decorated in a rose design. Pearls are so very popular that there is a wide choice among this jewelry. In the houseware departments are cake boxes decorated in roses, also those new rose-colored ones in novel shapes.

As rose is one of the favored colors in kitchen and bathroom accessories there is a good choice there. A rose table cover in those dainty new oilcloths would make an acceptable gift to the housewife. So would rose-colored sheets and pillow cases or a luncheon set in rose.

The Bride's Slippers

Courtesy Shoecraft Salon

THE opera pump, one of the most popular styles in footwear for day and evening, is the favored model for the June or summer bride. Fashioned of gleaming white satin or glistening crepe de chine, the bridal pump is very dainty and slenderizing to the foot, particularly desirable for the young woman not of especially large stature.

Many of the smartest slippers this season show trimming on the toe only, as illustrated in the two pairs of pumps shown. To complement the gown of white satin beaded in tiny pearls, the pearl-trimmed pumps pictured are designed, a cluster of two orange blossoms gracefully embroidered over the toe of the model with a bowknot of silk thread on the very tip.

A touch of color is introduced in the second style shown, the toe embroidered in very fine and narrow satin ribbon in an orange blossom pattern with a touch of delicate green in the leaf motif. This is so faint a tint that it does not add much by way of color, but rather bears relation to the green stems and leaves of the bride's bouquet. A pump with this design is smart for wear with the wedding gown of shimmering white tulle.

Designed for the statuesque type of woman are white satin Colonial pumps adorned with a self buckle bordered in tiny seed pearls. The heels of these slippers are studded in pearls of a slightly larger size, the effect being very dainty and ornamental.

Slippers for the trousseau are shown in the leading shoe shops done in brocaded damask embroidered in color. A stunning strap model of yellow damask is worked in blue and rose. Straps and narrow band trim are in yellow kid. These are designed for afternoon wear with floral patterned chiffon frocks.

An interesting ensemble includes damask slippers, matching hand bag and full length coat, a practical trio of garments wearable on many occasions. The pale yellow damask in this case gleams with bits of gold and is embroidered with pastel blue, green, and rose flowers. The bag and shoes are narrowly strapped and trimmed with yellow kid.

Lace Day Dress

There is a growing vogue for the lace day dress, extremely interesting in tailored models designed with yokes, box pleats and similar tailored details. Lucille Paray shows a black lace model in this fashion with a collar of ermine having short draped ends.

Cooking Hints

When making a berry pie bake the under crust slightly, then put in the berries and add the top crust and you will not have a soggy pie.

You can freshen shredded cocoanut in a few minutes by soaking it in sweet milk.

If you want to use only the white of the egg puncture a few small holes at one end or one at each end; hold egg upright and give it a gentle shake, then let the white flow out. Cut two small pieces of white paper, immerse them in the white and cover the holes in the eggshell with it. You will find the yolk in good condition when wanted.

Gather Ye Beauty!

IT'S in the tang of the sea, in the fields and on the mountain tops, hidden in cool, dark dells, waiting in the heart of a flower, waiting for you to take it. Beauty.

Now that days are long and fine, go fill your spirit to brimming with the peace, the harmony, the vastness and the ever new loveliness of Nature. For of such things is fashioned true human beauty.

Go mountain-gazing, roll in the grass of an early morning, dip into the rivers and lakes and for a little space at least become one with them and all the eternally fine and beautiful things they stand for.

Can you look on purple, velvety mountains at sun down, or at a field of gentle clover, or listen to the brave ditty of a brook and harbor unbeautiful thoughts?

There's nothing more potent for taking the kink out of a soul—and the wrinkles out of a face—than this visiting with the things created first. Aeon-old hills and trees and flowers that "never say die."

Visit them if only for a day now and then, or even part of a day. Every city worthy the name has a park and most cities boast a river. Some are fortunate enough to have mountains at their back doors. If you can do no better, then just cloud-gaze for a while these inspiring days.

We all of us need relaxation for our minds, our bodies and our faces. Nearly every one of us is tense and tight with responsibilities. Some of us show it in our dispositions, but most of us show it in our faces. And precious few of us have the knack of being able to relax in the midst of our crowded lives.

Just let us romp through a field though, or go wading in a creek, or roll down a hill, or lie in tall grasses and we just can't help relaxing, can we?

Your wrinkle-erasing creams, your skin tonics, even your powder and your rouge will prove just twice as effective if they have the co-operation of eased nerves and a gay, happy spirit. And all the outdoors are full of these things and waiting for you just to come and take them.

The Farmer's Advice

By Alfalfa Smith

WHAT are YOU doing about the crime wave?

If there is nothing else you can do, will you permit me to suggest that you pay some attention to your children, if you have any?

Teach them, first of all, OBEDIENCE. Then inspire them with courage, and throw in some self-control for good measure.

In case you have no children of your own, you might be KIND to those you come in contact with and show them that every one has to obey some one else and that courage and self-reliance are badly needed these days.

Crime is an exaggerated form of selfishness.

Real Refrigerator Service

OF COURSE you expect the maximum service from your refrigerator, but in order to secure this you must regulate the ice supply in accordance with the storage capacity of the refrigerator.

It is poor economy to renew the ice only when it has almost completely melted. Another mistaken economy is to wrap the ice in newspaper or a blanket. You will, of course, save on the ice bill, but your food deteriorates when the temperature of the ice box fluctuates and the object of keeping food in a refrigerator is to keep it in perfect condition. To do this the ice chamber must always be well filled so the temperature of the refrigerator remains even.

This compartment is constructed in proportion to the storage space of the refrigerator and to get best results the housewife must keep up the regular supply of ice.

When ice is wrapped its functioning power is retarded. It cannot lower the temperature of the refrigerator as it should and this means refrigerating conditions are not 100 per cent. In order to keep food properly the temperature should be maintained below 50 degrees and this is up to the housewife.

MUSINGS ON MENUS MODERNISTIC

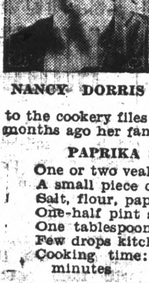
BY NANCY DORRIS

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1929.

Warm days call for the daintier flesh foods, like chicken and milk-fed veal, while in cool weather the appetite responds to roast beef, lamb steak and stuffed pork chops.



NANCY DORRIS

And since early summer weather is a mixture of cool and warm days, the culinary artist has need of meat dishes appropriate for both. Veal and chicken, however, are acceptable whatever the temperature.

That old world veal delicacy paprika schnitzel makes a real appeal at dinner almost any June evening.

Mrs. A. W. Welch, Flushing, N. Y., contributed to the cookery files of the column some months ago her family recipe for simple

PAPRIKA SCHNITZEL

One or two veal cutlets.
A small piece of suet.
Salt, flour, paprika.
One-half pint sour cream
One tablespoon flour
Few drops kitchen bouquet
Cooking time: Twelve to fifteen minutes

The kitchen bouquet colors the gravy to correspond with the browned veal. The appearance of the dish is enhanced by the deliciously brown gravy seasoned with salt and paprika.

In preparing the schnitzel a meat board, a heavy but not too sharp knife, a sharp knife, iron frying pan, tablespoon, measuring cup, plate, strainer, heated platter, clock.

While frying out the suet in the iron frying pan, remove the skin from the cutlets and cut into serving portions. Then french on both sides; that is, hack criss-crossly with the heavy but not too sharp knife. The frenching achieves the same result that pounding does many meats.

Season the frenched serving portions with salt and paprika, according to taste. Sprinkle some flour in the plate and dip the seasoned meat therein.

The suet should have given up most of its fat and be ready for removal. If necessary strain the liquid fat. Heat well and place in the fat the floured meat. Fry rather slowly until the portions are a golden brown on both sides. Then remove to the heated platter and keep hot.

To the fat in the frying pan add one tablespoon of flour and stir briskly until smooth. Gradually pour in the sour cream, stirring the while. Color with a few drops of kitchen bouquet until the thickened gravy is the same rich shade as the meat. Season with more salt and paprika. Heat for a moment and then pour around the meat on the platter. Serve at once.

Asparagus simple, mashed potatoes, raisin and cabbage salad and jellied peaches, sweet wafers and coffee complete a most satisfying dinner.

Shortage Of Water Fought By District

the reservoir with the Pardee tunnel.

Teich in his suit alleges that unless the district is restrained from dumping 50,000,000 gallons of water impounded in the pipes betweenthe Walnut Creek aerating plant and the San Pablo reservoir his gravel pits in the creek will be destroyed, portions of his land will be cut away by stream action and other portions of his five acre tract will be flooded.

Speed Essential

"It is absolutely necessary that a portion of the waters of the Mokelumne river flow to the San Pablo reservoir," declared Hanna in an affidavit which was presented with the plea for dissolution of the restraining order. He further pointed out that hundreds of thousands of dollars have been paid out by the district in bonuses to contractors to speed up work so that the Mokelumne supply can be secured as quickly as possible for the Eastbay cities.

"It is imperative that if the district is to get by without an actual shortage of water for its inhabitants that it utilize every single day of the brief period of time available to get Mokelumne water," the affidavit states.

Test Water

The water at present in the pipes of the system and which the district seeks to dump into San Pablo creek, was turned into the pipes several months ago as "test water" to locate leaks, and determine the resistance of the pipe line to air and water pressure. The water is useless for drinking purposes and will have to be drained from the dam when the fresh water arrives. There are no conveying pipes and San Pablo creek will therefore have to be relied upon as a carrier for "test water."

Teiche's suit came as a surprise according to officials of the Utility district, as negotiations were already under way to effect a settlement with owners of gravel pits.

MRS. F. BAKER DIES IN EAST

The death of Mrs. Florence Baker, former Richmond teacher, was learned by her relatives here yesterday. Death occurred at [illegible] yesterday morning in a hospital at [illegible], Mo., where she has been receiving treatment for some time.

Mrs. Baker taught here in the Roosevelt junior high school for six years. Last fall she was stricken with illness and was forced to give up her work and go to her home in Salina, Kan. Her condition grew steadily worse although every effort was taken to overcome the illness.

Her brother, Dr. L. A. [illegible], was called east a week ago when her condition became critical. He was with her when death came.

Mrs. Baker is survived by one daughter, Janet Rose Baker, who is now with relatives in Kansas, three brothers in California, and her father and two sisters in Kansas.

She was a niece of Dr. U. S. Abbott of Richmond, who received word of her death yesterday.

MONTE BLUE IN AIR DRAMA HERE

Those who have never seen the palatial interiors of leviathans of the air such as the new Fokker and Ford tri-motored monoplanes will have their curiosity satisfied by the South Pole flight scenes of "Conquest," Warner Bros latest special production starring Monte Blue and directed by Roy Del Ruth and coming to the Fox-California theater today.

Two spectacular dashes into the storms and ice-wastes of the Antarctic regions are made in the great tri-motored Zenith monoplane built to capture the world's endurance record. The Sieman-Halske motors were imported specially from Germany by the Ryan Aircraft corporation.

The wings measure 90 feet from tip to tip and are excellently designed for lifting heavy loads. The cabin is comfortably enclosed with twin seats and controls in front of the instrument board. The control apparatus is of the latest type with a steering wheel substituted for the more familiar "joy stick."

Bunks and thermos food and drink compartments provide for the wants of the fliers. It is electrically lighted. A Pullman car rides no more easily than it except when it encounters the warring elements of the polar regions.

"Conquest" is a terrific drama of human daring and conflict, based on the novel 'The Candle in the Wind,' by Mary Imlay Taylor. Eve Unsell did the adaptation, C. Graham Baker the scenario.

With Blue are H. B. Warner, Lois Wilson, Edmund Breese, Tully Marshall and others, the brilliant melodrama sweeps on to its terrific climax with many thrills along its icy way.

RICHFIELD OIL SIGNS AIR CONTRACT

The largest group of contracts for aviation gasoline ever secured in America have just been signed by the Richfield Oil company of California, according to C. M. Fuller, president, who estimates that within the next 12 months the sales total of these contracts will be not less than $2,500,000.

The Transcontinental Air Transport, which, under the technical direction of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, is to start a transcontinental combination air and railway system from New York to Los Angeles on July 1, has just contracted for Richfield aviation gasoline for its western division, according to Fuller.

Richfield is supplying the Western Air Express for the service to Kansas City of which the division from Los Angeles to Albuquerque started May 15 and has established depots with complete equipment at Kingman and Holbrook, Arizona, Albuquerque, New Mexico; Amarillo, Texas; Wichita and Kansas City, Kansas. In addition it is taking care of the needs of this company at Los Angeles, San Francisco, Las Vegas, Nevada and Salt Lke City, Utah.

The Standard Air Lines, which has been successfully running on a combination air and railway system with the Texas and Pacific Railway between Los Angeles and St. Louis, has placed servicing points at Los Angeles, Phoenix Tucson and Douglas, Arizona; and El Paso, Texas, for Richfield, which is also supplying the entire needs of the Maddux Air lines at San Francisco, Fresno, Bakersfield, San Diego and Imperial, California; Phoenix, Arizona, and Agua Caliente, Mexico.

Mr. Fuller also announces that Richfield is starting distribution of its aviation gasoline on the Atlantic Seaboard and has closed contracts at 40 of the largest airports in the East; including Newark and Hasbrouck Heights, N. J., Wheeling, W. Va., and many other leading fields.

George O'Brien As Policeman In New Picture

Again in a strong, handsome and heroic role, George O'Brien will be seen when the Fox production of "Blindfold" comes to the Fox-California theater today.

This time George is a policeman, a role he long has wanted to play. This actor should know his policemen, having been reared in the shadows of the San Francisco police station. His father is chief of police there.

"The average citizen," George said when production of the film started, "looks upon a cop as a necessary evil—the kind that talks out of the corner of his mouth and indulges in theatricalism in his 'pinches.' I want to show him as I know him—a good soldier obeying his superiors, and offering his body as a buffer between you and the rough side of life.

NEW COTTAGE TO BE BUILT

Permission to construct a cottage and garage was given to David Dryden yesterday by City Building Inspector Arthur J. Hurley.

The cottage will be located on the east side of Thirty-second street between Roosevelt and Clinton avenues and will cost $4000. The work will be done by the owner.

S. J. Osborne received permission to install a patent flue in his home on Eight street between Lucas and Lincoln avenues. The work will cost $50.

Rotary Head Of S. F. To Address Richmond Club

Charles L. Wheeler of the San Francisco Rotary club will be the speaker at the session of the Richmond Rotary club here this afternoon in the Hotel Carquinez. Wheeler is the newly elected president of the San Francisco club and is vice president of the McCormic Steamship company.

The program is under the direction of City Manager J. A. McVittie and Al Hill. McVittie will be chairman of the day.

NOAH'S ARK

By ARLINE deHAAS

Copyright 1928, Warner Bros. Pictures Inc.

"NOAH'S ARK," starring Dolores Costello and featuring George O'Brien, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel. It is based upon the scenario by Darryl Francis Zanuck.

SYNOPSIS

Three friends, Ivan, Armand, and Emil; a French girl, Marie; two Americans, Travis and Al; and a priest, are thrown together on a Continental Express. The train is wrecked and Travis rescues Marie. The travellers discover a mysterious inn, where the three friends fight over the girl, each wounding the other. Suddenly German soldiers apear announcing war. Marie, Travis and Al escape to Paris. Marie believes Travis intends to marry her, but he returns to America, leaving her heartbroken and disillusioned. Three years later in a French village near the front, she meets the priest, now an army chaplain, and the three friends, all wounded.

CHAPTER XII—Continued

"My God! Emil Helmke! Armand Duval! Yes . . . yes!" He was shrieking now in a sort of insane fury, scarcely looking at his companions. "We went to an inn . . . we fought there . . . for the girl . . . and you!" he turned towards Emil. "You beast . . . you swine . . . you pig . . . you betrayed us . . . your friends . . . Ah, we have scores to settle . . . dirty . . . rotten . . ." His voice trailed off into sobbing anathemas.

The girl, who had been kneeling by the German had, during this time, jumped to her feet and backed away into a corner. Now, as she looked at them, she could recognize all three—and yet all three were so terribly changed. With a scream she started for the stairs.

She could recognize them.

Suddenly there was a crash, a tremendous roaring. A mass of debris came flying through the ceiling, striking the men on the pallets upstairs, tumbling down the steps where the girl stood, forcing her back. Great chunks of plaster, great pieces of stone, went hurtling through the air.

CHAPTER XIII.

The rain of stones and plaster had completely submerged all lights. In the blackness of the cellar nothing was distinguishable. Then came the faint flickering of a match, lighting up Ivan's face. He groped about, searching for the candle that had been dislodged from its place. At last he found it, lit it, and fitted it back again into the little recess in the wall.

The four people stared from one to another, scarcely able to believe that once more they had been brought face to face. The shadows of ghosts that had seemed for a time to be laid, now flitted across their minds, bringing with them the memories of that last time that they had met.

Now all three noticed that with the terrific explosion there had been a large gap left in the wall—large enough for a man to walk through. The jagged ends of broken stones protruded here and there, but the fresh, cool air of the night came sweeping in upon them.

Armand attempted to get to his feet. He reached out for his crutches, and with difficulty managed to rest himself upon them, holding his wounded leg stiffly before him. Emil still leaned on his elbow, secure in his corner.

As the effects of the shock left them, they began to study each other. And yet, as they studied each other, the eyes of the three men turned always towards the girl, standing there against the wall, her white face almost like a lumination, her glittering hair a flame of light. At last Ivan broke the silence.

"And so, Mademoiselle, we meet again." His voice had become more normal with his changed attitude. "Strange, isn't it?" he mused. "Always we four. But now you have not your protector with you—your American friend—what was his name."

"I prefer not to speak of him, if you please," Marie interrupted frigidly.

"Good! We're getting along better than I had thought for." He took a step, as though to move closer to the girl. But the crutch of Armand was already in his way.

"And what happened to you on that fatal evening, Mademoiselle?" Armand smiled insinuatingly.

"Didn't you just hear her say that she preferred not to speak of the man?" Ivan interposed maliciously. "Since when have you, the self-acknowledged gallant, become so discourteous as to trespass on a lady's decision?"

"Pig!" The Frenchman spat the word out venomously.

"But, my dear Armand," Ivan laughed, "after all, why should you interfere? You are, for the present, at least—what shall we say? Incapacitated?" He turned his head slightly and glanced down at the other's stiff leg. "While I, on the other hand, now that my recollections are quite clear, am certainly completely in form." He ever so slightly gave Armand's crutch a thrust with his foot and walked over to Marie.

"Don't you agree with me, Mademoiselle?" He stood now almost directly in front of the girl, his roving eyes appraising her.

The girl made no answer. She merely stared through him and beyond him, as though she did not see him.

"You don't talk to me, eh?" he laughed, peering down at her.

"I don't think we have anything to say to each other," she returned coldly.

"Nothing to say to each other! Ah, my dear, how can you say that?" There was a hint of mockery in his tone—that same old intonation that suggested swaggering braggadocio. "We have so many things to say to each other—if only you would not stand there so quiet, so cold. There are so many things I could teach you—about love."

"You!" She made a little contemptuous sound in her throat. And she wondered at her own coolness.

"Ah, that's better! At least you're showing some signs of life—which is more than you did, even that night on the train." He was coming closer to her now.

"Haven't you learned, with the others," the man's voice was going on and on, "that we must take what we can get while we can get it? I knew that so long ago, but only the war seems to have taught people that. We may be dead tomorrow—so tonight we live. It is the true philosophy of the true philosopher who is not afraid to admit the truth to himself. And so—tonight—"

Marie did not hear any more, for she saw that Armand was already making his slow and painful way towards them. The hole in the wall—she noticed it more carefully now. It was directly behind Ivan. If he stepped out of the path, forced aside for even a moment by the Frenchman, she could run that way.

In her calculations for her flight, she did not notice the reclining figure of Emil in his corner. She did not see that even as they talked his hand was moving slowly but certainly towards the automatic in the holster on the belt about his waist.

Ivan's hands were upon her, catching her, holding her, dragging her towards him. With a jerk she tried to wrench herself free. And it was then that she saw Emil raising his gun. And as she saw that movement, she saw, too, the figure of the priest outlined in the hole in the wall. The gun, pointing towards Ivan, made the Padre come within the line of fire. She screamed.

At the same moment the sharp report of a pistol rang out. A streak of fire sped across the room.

Ivan, hearing the girl's scream, turned in time to catch the maneuvre, and with an oath he leapt to one side. The bullet whizzed past him. The little priest staggered backwards, his Bible clutched to his breast.

With a shriek Marie was across the room and snatching at the pistol. Screaming, crying, she seized the weapon, twisting it out of the German's hand and flinging it to one side. Like a jungle cat she was scratching, shaking, pulling at the man's hair.

"You beast! You beast!" Her eyes were blazing; she stamped the floor, her anger, like a hot fever, consuming her. "You've killed him—the little Padre—you've killed him! You swine!" She spat in the German's face.

"For myself I do not care!" Marie was shaking her fists, standing over Emil like some avenging fury. "I'd like to die! I'd like to be out of a world like this! I only envy the millions lying out there on the battlefields. It is better that way than this—far better. I'd rather die—rather die a hundred times over than go on to be the victim of swine like you! But the little Father . . ." She stopped, her eyes filled with tears.

—TODAY IS FLAG DAY—

JUNE 14th.
FLAG DAY

It is an occasion on which to commemorate not only the FLAG designed by Betsy Ross, but also to pause and realize the fuller significance of the NATIONAL BANNER.

The AMERICAN FLAG IS KNOWN and RESPECTED ALL OVER THE WORLD.

It's respect should be felt throughout our own country, where patriotism should always be keen.

Today AMERICA LEADS IN COMMERCE, INDUSTRY and ART because it has marched onward over all obstacles.

The will to win, the determination to finish the job, is a natural trait of Americans. Leaders in American commerce and big business are men who have dauntless courage.

The AMERICAN FLAG was made by BETSY ROSS in a little house on Arch street in Philadelphia. This house still stands and is one of the show places of that city.

Betsy Ross conceived the idea of taking a soldier's uniform and with pieces of it made the flag with 13 stars in it, representing the 13 original states.

AMERICA HAS GROWN CONSIDERABLY SINCE THEN.

REMEMBER OLD GLORY ON THIS DAY.

OAKS DEFEAT ANGELS IN THIRD

SAN FRANCISCO, June 13.—P—Oakland strengthened its hold on third place of the Pacific Coast league by beating Los Angeles, 5 to 1, today and the second place San Francisco Seals slipped when they were shut out by Sacramento.

While their closest pursuers were losing to the Senators by a score of 4 to 0 the league-leading San Francisco Missions regained an advantage of five full games by defeating Seattle 7 to 5.

The Missions were wild in the first inning, letting the Indians score three runs, but they came back strong in the third to cross the plate six times and cinch the contest.

Portland again surprised with a 6 to 5 victory over Hollywood, making three runs in the eighth to overcome the Sheik's two run lead.

Sacramento's pitcher, Vinci, let the Seals have only six hits and Daglia, Oakland hurler, held the Angels to eight hits, blanking them in all but the first inning.

JUNIOR NINE IN TRAINING

Richmond junior baseball players are undergoing a stiff workout each night under the direction of several ex-professional baseball players.

Recently the locals met Alameda juniors in a practice game and were defeated 20 to 4. A makeshift lineup was used by the local squad.

After the game Tony Lamar, Chick Autrey and Charles Freine showed the team some of the tricks used in professional ball.

Thomas Motors To Tangle With Richmond Elks

Two Richmond semi-pro baseball teams will meet Sunday afternoon at the First street field with the Thomas Motors team taking on the fast Richmond Elks.

This game will probably be one of the best seen here this year, managers of the two teams are telling the world.

Sil Compagna will chuck for the Motors while Perricone and Bliss will hurl for the Elks.

ANOTHER RAW DECISION! By Burris Jenkins Jr.

SEARCH FOR KIDNAPERS CONTINUE

OROFINO, Ida., June 13—(U.P.)—With an area 200 miles square in Idaho and eastern Washington continually being expanded as more officers are called into the search, there was no definite trace late today of the four desperadoes who held up, robbed and kidnaped Lieut. Gov. W. B. Kinne, wealthy Orofino lumberman and two other men.

The state executive was unharmed but one of two men who came to his aid as he was struggling with his captors was painfully wounded and both were beaten about the head with gun butts.

The wounded man is Paul Kelle. His partner is W. L. Tribbey, in whose automobile the bandit quartet escaped after the two lumberjacks, seeing the struggle alongside the road, had stopped to render aid.

One Shot

Latest clues to the whereabouts of the bandit gang indicated they had passed through Ahsahka, Ida. at 4:30 p. m. Wednesday in Tribbey's car.

Kelle, who is a giant in stature, leaped from the car and set upon the culprits with his bare hands. He was shot in the thigh by one of the bandits and beaten about the head with clubbed pistols. Tribbey, who also leaped into the fray, was beaten but not shot.

The bandits then took the three prisoners, tied them to trees and ordered them not to attempt to escape for four hours. Tribbey immediately worked his knife from his pocket, cut his bonds, released the other two men, and the trio started for Orofino.

Not Serious

Kelle was reported to be in a satisfactory condition at the Orofino hospital today.

Sheriffs of four counties aided by boy scouts, lumberjacks, private citizens and local police forces are conducting an extensive man hunt for the quartet and have requested more eastern Washington counties to join in the search. It is believed the bandits are heading toward Spokane.

LEGION FACES HARD TEST IN AFRICA

RABAT, Morocco, June 13—(U.P.)—Eight battalions of France's famous Foreign Legion struggled across the sandy upper plateaus of the Atlas mountains tonight on one of the most difficult punitive expeditions ever undertaken in that sun-broiled country known as "the hell hole of Africa."

The strongest and most daring men in the French military were establishing a wide front in the mountain country to combat savage rebel tribes who twice attacked outposts this week and who now hold 79 French soldiers as prisoners.

Planes to Rescue

Latest reports from the outposts said the rebels were besieging the little fort near Yacoub. French aviators flew over the fort attempting to drop food and medicine to the wounded and hungry soldiers who were almost out of provisions.

All planes flying the rebel area were met with repeated volleys of rifle fire from the ground.

The campaign to rescue the prisoners from probably torture or death, as described in reports received here, tonight became one of the outstanding feats of the Foreign Legion, known throughout the world for the courage of its men in face of great hazards and almost unbearable climates.

Taken By Surprise

It started early this week with an attack of a detachment of native and white troops by a fierce band of mountain horsemen. The French soldiers were ambushed and cut down. Thirteen were killed and many wounded and 79 of the remainder taken prisoners.

The rebels, flushed with success, followed up with a vicious night attack on the outer fort at Ait Yakoub Wednesday afternoon, determined to capture the post. The wounded and shattered troops stationed there defended it bravely until French airplanes came to their aid and dropped 600 bombs in a four hour battle before the rebels were scattered. Friendly Moors aided in the defense, attacking the rebels on the flank and killing 35.

Counter Offensive

The French Foreign Legion, commanded by General Freydenberg and General Bidalon, immediately started a counter offensive to rescue the prisoners, and to relieve other outposts which have been reported under seige by rebels.

The body of troops which is attempting to penetrate the desert plateaus to the mountain strongholds of the rebels will be without fresh water for ten days. They must carry their food on their backs and they must march in clouds of choking alkili dust. They must face the danger of having bands of savage rebels spring upon them from any spot of concealment, or from rocky ambush.

PLANS FOR NEW SEWERS HERE FINISHED

Plans for a $1,000,000 sewer system have been completed by E. A. Hoffman, city engineer, and John Miller, sanitary engineer. The plans will be presented to the city council as soon as easements are obtained from the Santa Fe and Southern Pacific companies. The sewer will pass under the railroads at several points.

Hoffman stated that the system will cost $1,000,000 at a rough estimate but that everything possible is being done to keep the price of the new system down to a reasonable figure.

50 Year Plan

The new system would take care of the growth of this city for the next 50 years, it is believed, and will serve all of the city except the western section, Mira Vista, east Richmond, Stege and the San Pablo Villa districts. These districts are in separate drainage areas and some of them are served by the Stege Sanitary district.

Harold Gray, city of Oakland consulting engineer recently inspected the plans and declared that they were excellent.

Hoffman stated that the main outfall sewer wil be capable of handling normal sanitary and storm sewage from the sewers over a period of 50 years. The lateral sewers, however, will be no more extensive than are needed as the city grows. Provision is made to empty existing sewers into the new line.

No Storm Sewers

At the present time Richmond has no storm sewer system and depends upon surface drainage. As a result some districts of the city are flooded during heavy rain storms.

While the price of the new system was figured as low as possible, every means to take care of normal conditions were figured in the plans.

If the plans are adopted and the sewer system installed, it will contain 12,000 lineal feet of sewer mains. These mains will range in size from four to 36 inches of vitrified sewer pipe while centrifugal cast concrete mains will range in size from two to six feet.

Outfall Line

The outfall storm sewer line, of monolithic concrete, will be eight feet square. It will run south of Cutting boulevard on Tenth street to Dock street, thence west over Dock street to the inner harbor.

The main sanitary sewer, of 42 inch concrete pipe, will continue southward on Tenth street and open into the bay between the Ford and Parr properties. It has been found that the action of the tide is greater at this point than at any other place on the harbor.

As tide action is not so necessary for storm sewer outfall, the cost of the system will be reduced by dumping storm waters into the bay at Dock street, instead of carrying them down Tenth street, Hoffman stated.

MEANS NAMED ON WATER BOARD

SACRAMENTO, June 13.—The appointment of Thomas H. Means of Oakland and San Francisco as a member of the advisory board to pass upon the reports in the state-wide water resources survey, was announced today by Bert B. Meek, director of the department of public works.

Means made the economic survey for the bay barrier project at the request of the Industrial Water Users' association.

An intensive study for proposed construction of the barrier across Carquinez straits, its feasibility, necessity and cost will receive an intensive study along with other projects, according to Meek.

Committees and engineers will be employed in the state survey and their findings will be submitted to a board. The cost of the study will amount to about $400,000, according to a bill now pending before the governor. Of this amount, $75,000 will be devoted to the study of the bay barrier project.

Moro Wedding Rites To Be Held At Show

MANILA, June 13 —UP— When the Philippine Carnival management decided to stage a special Moro wedding on Mindanao night at the carnival grounds, Jamalul Kiram, sultan of Sulu, was prevailed upon to direct the affair. Nobody questioned the sultan's authoritativeness. He has himself taken marital vows on 30 different occasions.

Probe Asked Of Shooting By Dry Agent

SANTA FE, N. M., June 13.—UP—Prohibition Director Doran today sent a telegram from Washington to federal officials here asking a complete report on the shooting of J. J. Thompson, father of four children, who was wounded seriously near Solver City Wednesday while delivering a five-gallon keg of whiskey to Simon Oropeza, an under cover agent.

Thompson's wife was in the Thompson automobile when the shooting occured.

Sheriff John M. St. John said his investigation disclosed that Thomas McSherry, deputy sheriff shot Thompson after the latter pulled a revolver and fired twice at McSherry and Federal Agent W. L. Hill, who had set a trap to catch Thompson in the sale of liquor.

The sheriff said McSherry and Hill lay in wait for Thompson at Fort Bayard, near Silver City. Oropeza, the under cover agent was waiting when the Thompson automobile arrived. As Oropeza, standing beside the automobile, reached for the whiskey, Mrs. Thompson said she heard one of the officers shout "hands up." She ducked down in the back seat of the car and did not see the shooting, she said.

BRYANT TAKES S. O. TENNIS TROPHY

An exciting five set tennis match yesterday resulted in a victory for Clare Bryant over L. S. Fish in the Standard Oil tennis cup matches. This is the first "leg" that Bryant has won on the cup. Fish has two wins to his credit.

The game was played on the Point courts with one of the largest crowds ever seen at a Standard Oil tennis championship.

Bryant started like the well known "house afire" winning the first set 6-3. Fish came right back and took the second and third sets by scores of 7-9 and 3-6.

Bryant regaining "second wind, took the fourth set by a score of 6-4 and after a hard battle took the fifth and deciding set by a score of 9-7.

F. Tittemore Sells Spray Co. Interest

of Richmond since 1906, but it was not until ten years later that he forged to the front as an inventor. The Decora Manufacturing company was opened practically in a hole in the wall in 1916. Vital patents were secured and it was the Decora company that first put out an individual machine for small work. Afterwards the machines were introduced in the automobile plants of the country and are now in universal use.

Factory Built

Later property was purchased at Second and Nevin, and a factory erected on it. Modern machinery was installed and the business of the company then laeped by bounds.

In 1927 the Decora company was bought out by the Hopkins company, Tittemore retained his interest in the concern and was made general manager.

During the time he has been engaged in the spray machine industry, Tittemore has developed 26 inventions, which are now in general use.

The development of the spray machine industry and the name of Tittemore are parallel, and in the future it is likely that other important inventions to the trade will be developed by him.

ALLERTON, Ill., June 13 -UP—Without any tenants for a number of years and with small likelihood of future use for which it was originally built, the local jail has been leased for a creamery station.

BOILER SHOPS BEAT AGENT NINE

The Insurance Agent baseball team yesterday lost a stiff contest to the Standard Oil Boiler shop nine at the First street field by a score of 8 to 2.

Jack Burg started for the Agents and lasted two innings until the Oilers made five runs off him. Greathouse then went into the box and chucked a good brand of ball for the remainder of the contest.

Brownie Harrison was the man in the iron mask for the Agents and he collected one hit out of three times at the plate.

Newell pitched for the winnrs while Moitoza received his offerings.

Ripley starred for the Agents with a triple that scored a run and a sensational catch in left field in the seventh inning.

STATE SPEED LIMITS SAME

SACRAMENTO, June 13,—Forty miles an hour is still the legal speed limit of California and motorists are expected to keep themselves within it.

This was the statement today of Frank G. Snook, chief of the division of motor vehicles in answer to numerous inquiries as to whether the speed limit was changed at the recent session of the legislature. Snook said:

"An impression apparently prevails in the minds of a large number of people in California that the speed limit for motor vehicles was increased by the legislature to fifty miles an hour or was taken off altogether.

"While it is true that bills affecting these changes were introduced, they failed to pass both houses and, therefore, will not become law.

"Forty miles an hour still remains the speed limit of California as set forth in Section 113 of the motor vehicle act and our policy in reference to its enforcement is unchanged."

DYNAMITE'S IDEA OF GETTING THE NATIONAL BOXING ASSOCIATION TO RECOGNIZE HIM AS CHAMPION IS GOOD, EXCEPT FOR THAT ONE POINT
IF THE N.B.A. RECOGNIZED YOU AS CHAMPION YOU'D GET THE TITLE ON A SILVER PLATTER, BUT IF YOU WIN IT IN TH' RING YOU'D GET IT WRAPPED UP IN A ROLL OF BILLS — THE N.B.A. WOULD SLIP US GLORY, BUT THE PROMOTERS SLIP US COIN!
YEH— BUT IF I'M CHAMPION MY GIRL WILL MARRY ME!
THERE YOU GO AGAIN! YOU'D RATHER BE MARRIED THAN A MILLIONAIRE!! DON'T MENTION WEDDING BELLS TO ME AGAIN!!
YOU'RE FORGETTING ONE THING AN' THAT'S ME! I'M NOT MANAGING YOU FOR MY HEALTH — I'M OUT FOR THAT OLD MAZUMA! MY IDEA IN DEVELOPING A CHAMPION IS TO MAKE MYSELF A FORTUNE — NOW YOU FORGET THIS GIRL AN' THINK OF YOUR BOXING GLOVES!!
THEN GET SOME ONE TO FIGHT ME!
YEH - THAT'S EASIER SAID THAN DONE -!!

SECOND WEEK OF TALLMAN HUNT ON

man's mysterious disappearance from the ship was discovered.

He was wearing a blue serge suit, of the same material and color that Tallman had when he was last known to be seen on the Admiral Benson, two hours before it docked here. All marks of identification had been removed.

The nurse at the emergency hospital first noticed that the patient appeared almost excatly like the handsome radio operator sought in connection with the murder of his asserted paramour, the pretty Mrs. Patty.

Believed Here

She called authorities. Detective Lieutenant James Malloy and Detective Seargeant Jesse Ayers took one look at the man and breathed a sigh of relief, so certain were they that he was the one they were looking for. But Emmet Hogan, head of the bureau of identification, soon informed them they were wrong.

Immediately after Batheson's arrival after the rush trip back from the east he gave commands for two new methods to be used in determining Tallman's whereabouts, which are believed to be in this region.

Matheson ordered that all baggage taken from the Admiral Benson be checked through to its destination to find out if Tallman might have hidden in a trunk or box and he attracted attention for the first time to the fact hat Tallman's automobile has not been repored at any garage since he vanished.

Thus after a hasty study of the case, the detective chief evidently considered the theory that Tallman left the Admiral Benson after it docked here was a logical one. The missing man might have jumped or walked off the vessel while police were hurrying to a room on the top deck where they were certain they would find him prisoner.

Tallman escaped a week ago Wednesday night, and to knowledge of police, has not communicated with anyone since that time or given any indication of the direction of his flight.

LOS ANGELES CLUES SIFTED BY POLICE

LOS ANGELES, June 13—(U.P.)—After a day spent in eliminating false clues, police tonight once more found themselves without definite ground on which to continue their search for William Loren Tallman, handsome young radio operator suspected of beating Mrs. Virginia Patty to death with a brick.

In the early morning hours, Los Angeles felt something of the hysteria of the William Edward Hickman hunt when a Hollywood matron reported that her apartment had been entered by a man she believed was Tallman.

Some 350 uniformed officers and plain clothes detectives were rushed to the north Wilcox avenue district, but fingerprint comparison sowed that the man who bound the woman, Mrs. Harry Stern, and fled with money and food, was not Tallman.

Hope was revived when the S. S. San Juan radioed it was enroute with a stowaway, but officers at the dock found that the man was Carl Spano. Belief that Tallman might have stowed away on a ship was caused by the fact that the suspect disappeared from the steamer Admiral Benson just before the vessel docked in San Francisco nine days ago.

Chief of detectives Herman Cline said that off all the clues to date he was inclined to favor the report that Tallman had been seen near Astoria, Ore., Saturday night just after the Admiral Benson passed up the Columbia river, enroute to Portland. Under this theory, when Tallman broke out of his stateroom he would have hidden aboard ship.

Street District Will Be Formed For Improvement

Formation of a new street improvement act of 1925, is being discussed here, it was learned yesterday.

The district is being formed to provide for the paving of portions of Colusa and Santa Fe avenues in the Berkeley Park district, which is adjacent to El Cerrito. Part of the streets to be improved forms a boundary of El Cerito and some of the property to be assessed lies within the city of El Cerrito.

Homer W. Patterson, local attorney, has been named attorney for the district by the Contra Costa county board of supervisors. Patterson stated yesterday it will be necessary to secure the consent of the El Cerrito city council before formation of the district can be completed and the improvement work carried out. More than a month is expected to elapse before the preliminary steps are completed.

Ross [illegible], El Cerrito city engineer, has been named engineer for the district and is preparing plans for the street improvements. The work will cost about $50,000 Paterson stated.

A similar condition exists on San Pablo avenue on the west side. The street lies within the city of El Cerrito while the property on the west side of the street is owned by Richmond. In order to assess the adjacent property on the west side it would be necessary to form a joint district, part of which would be in El Cerrito and part in Richmond. Patterson holds that the 1925 act could be applied to this work.

CROCKER BANK, AMERICAN MERGED

most important of the large banking consolidations of recent years. It represents resources of $400,000,000 and deposits of $330 000,000.

Committees from the two concerns will work out merger plans which will be announced immediately and will be presented to stock holders.

Old Firms

The three banks involved in the merger, through their predecessor institutions, which had their inception in 1850, have been closly allied with the development of the state.

The Crocker National and the First National banks were merged only a few years ago.

Officials of the two companies announced the merger will mean that the banks will move into a stronger position, designed to keep pace with the growing economic area about the bay regions. The district served by the banks extends as far as Santa Rosa on the north and to Modesto, Los Banos and Gilroy to the south.

FRENCH FLIERS NEARING GOAL

hour flight from Old Orchard, Me., to Paris.

Heavy fog lay off the New Foundland banks in the path of the three Frenchmen, one of whom kissed his American bride of three days goodbye as he climbed into the Ochre winged plane on the sandy beach at Old Orchard this morning. Further on along the route, especially over the eastern half of the Atlantic air lane, low clouds and frequent rainstorms were reported.

'High Speed East'

"High speed eastward" from the coast of Maine was the report on the Yellowbird when it outdistanced its escort plane after the take-off at 9:10 a. m. Est.

Jean Assolant, veteran war flier, who married Miss Pauline Parker last Tuesday; Rene LeFevre, navigator and reserve pilot; and Armeno Lotti, Jr. backer of the flight, who ran away from home in a projected ocean flight last year, were the crew of the Yellow Bird.

Flash Crashes

The scheduled trans-Atlantic race with the Green Flash, in which Roger Q. Williams and Lewis A. Yancey, hoped to fly to Rome was halted abjuntly when the American plane turned over and crashed on the Old Orchard beach in its attempt to take-off a few minutes after the French flyers.

There were rumors—and only rumors—about that an 18-year-old boy had stowed away on the Yellow Bird as it rested on the Old Orchard beach. A youth who refused to tell his name attempted to sell newspapermen at Old Orchard the purported story; but said there were no buyers.

Flipped Coins

He claimed that he had flipped coins with his companion to decide which would go and the other boy won. Two Portland boys, Robert Drew and Raymond LaPointe, also said their chum, Alexander Jordon, of Portland, was hidden on the Yellow Bird. Observers believed such a thing impossible in the crowded cabin.

There was, however, a fourth passenger on the French monoplane as it sped westward and homeward. "Rufus" a baby alligator, was presented to the fliers as a mascot on their trip.

The take-off of the plane which will attempt to make the fastest American to Paris trip on record was perfect.

Composure Shaken

Assolant, whose air courage in the past sent him on perilous raids in Moroccan war regions, waved a last farewell to his blonde-haired bride and shot the big craft down the smooth beach at increasing speed. It took the air smoothly—as Mrs. Assolant watched with a lomposure which later was to be shaken as she waited for reports from the craft.

Using a mixture of 60 percent benzol with the load of 1100 gallons of gasoline, the Yellow Bird's single motor was beating in smooth and steady fashion when the craft was last sighted. The fliers, although making fast time as they roared up the Maine coast, planned steadily to increase their speed as they neared the coast of Ireland, following about the same route which Col. Charles A. Lindbergh took, unless they are forced to circle to avoid storms.

150 An Hour

The plane is capable of 150 miles an hour and has a cruising range of about 5000 miles. The scheduled distance is under 4000 miles allowing for deviation in case of storms.

Specifically, the storm areas in the path of the Yellow Bird lay along the 45th parallel. The shifting wind probably would favor the flight.

Stamp Club To Meet Tonight

CONTRACT FOR SPUR FILL AWARDED

Contracts for the filling of the right of way for the new spur track to the Richmond inner harbor has been awarded by the Southern Pacific company to W. A. Willits, according to word received here yesterday by L. G. Eby, local Southern Pacific agent.

Permission to construct the new spur track was awarded by the state railroad commission recently. Werk is expected to start immediately.

The spur track will leave the main line of the Southern Pa- street and will be laid over Forty-first street to Seaver avenue, thence running in a westerly direction to the new inner harbor terminal over Seaver avenue.

It is expected that the track will be ready to be used when the new wharf units are opened.

675 Treated At Health Center

According to a report made public yesterday, 675 persons were treated at the Richmond Health Center during the month of May. There were 35 new patients, three county hospital cases and three local hospital cases.

The dental clinic treated 88 persons and had five on the waiting list.

500 Lots To Be Sold For Taxes

KEEP LICENSE OF CAR IN SIGHT

SACRAMENTO, June 13.—Vacation motorists of California were warned today by the Division of Motor vehicles that baggage and camp equipment must be loaded on cars in such a manner as not to hide the license plates

This followed reports from traffic officers throughout the state that many cars were being stopped on the road with baggage so loaded as to make it impossible to read the number on the plates.

The law requires that plates on front and rear be kept in plain sight, it was explained.

Motorists were also admonished that the law requires baggage to be loaded so that it will not protrude beyond the hub caps on not more than six inches beyond the left side of the vehicle and the hub caps on the right side.
